

Author Disclosure Statement Instructions (7 July 2008)

In accordance with the policies and procedures established by The Endocrine Society by the Ethics Advisory Committee: Ethical Aspects of Conflicts of Interests (http://www.endo-society.org/ethics/upload/-coi_guideline.pdf), all journals published by The Endocrine Society require that each author disclose any potential financial conflicts of interest before a paper is published in Endocrinology, Molecular Endocrinology, The Journal of Clinical Endocrinology and Metabolism, or Endocrine Reviews.

The authors are requested to provide disclosure information when submitting their revised manuscript or, if the initial submission is recommended for publication without modification, upon being informed that the manuscript is provisionally accepted pending the submission of disclosure information.

The disclosure of this information is to identify openly any relationships current or during the past 2 years with companies that make or supply products or services related to the subject matter of the paper and other financial and non-financial interests. With full disclosure, the editors and readers can make informed decisions about submitted and printed papers in the journals.

Please note:

- The corresponding author must ensure that all authors sign and submit the Author Disclosure form.
- The corresponding author must also summarize the disclosures in a paragraph that will appear in the published article, indicating whether there are any disclosures or not. (See instructions below.)
- This summary will appear in the PDF of accepted papers on The Endocrine Society journals Rapid Electronic Publication sites and in the printed journal. Final acceptance is contingent on the inclusion of the summary and on the receipt of all signed forms at the editorial office.

Instructions for Author Disclosure Summary:

Briefly collate all information regarding conflicts directly related to the material being published from the individual author summaries. Use the format: Author's initials, then category, then company name. Relevant categories include "has nothing to declare", "is employed by", "was previously employed by", "consults for", "has previously consulted for", "has served as an expert witness for", "received lecture fees from", "has equity interests in", "received grant support (dates) from", "is an inventor on (country)(patent number)", "receives royalties from". Authors may also add other pertinent categories.

EXAMPLES:

1. DISCLOSURE STATEMENT: AZ, BY, and CX have nothing to declare. DW was previously employed by Hormone Pharma and has equity interests in Secretary Devices, Inc... EV is a consultant for Endo Experts, LLC. FX received lecture fees from Gland Enterprises. GT is an inventor on U.S. Patent 000-111-2222.
2. DISCLOSURE STATEMENT: The authors have nothing to disclose.

The Endocrine Society Journals: Disclosure Statement (7 July 2008)

FAX COMPLETED FORM TO 301-951-2617

This form should be completed after reading the accompanying: Author Disclosure Statement Instructions. Before a revised manuscript can be processed, each author is required to identify all relationships within the last 2 years if they are relevant to the topic of the manuscript. A relationship is “relevant” if the relationship or interest relates to the topic of the manuscript in terms of any of the following: the same or similar subject matter or topic; the same, similar, or competing drug or device, product, or service, intellectual property, or asset; a drug or device company or its competitor; or has the reasonable potential to result in financial, professional, or other personal gain or loss for you, members of your household, or employer. Each author must complete this form, indicating if you and/or a household member (defined as someone with whom you share income or assets) have any involvement with the entities listed below, and if so, its character and financial dimensions. Write a Yes/No answer to each category. For positive responses, list all applicable entities, describe the relationship, and categorize its magnitude as $0, <$10K, or >=$10K. Further information about potential conflicts of interest can be found in the journal’s Instructions to Authors, available through the journal’s Web site. (Select journal at <http://www.endojournals.org/>)

Please insert brief explanatory information describing each relationship in each category in the table below.

Name (print) _____ Manuscript number _____

Manuscript submission to (circle one): Endocrine Reviews Endocrinology JCEM Molecular Endocrinology

	Yes/ No	List Source and Your Role (including the past 2 yrs and known future roles)	$0 <$10k >=$10K
1. Financial Relationships: Do you or a household member have any financial relationship involving past, present, or future employment with any entity involved with this research?
2. Research Grants: Are there any research grants received or pending for this research?
3. Stock/Stock Options: Do you or a household member have any equity ownership or stock options in any entity involved with this research?
4. Board Membership/Consulting: Have you served as a paid board member or received consulting fees for any entity involved with this research?
5. Advisory Council: Have you served on an advisory board or advisory council for any entity involved with this research?
6. Honoraria: Have you received any consulting fees, honoraria, or lecture fees from any entity involved with this research?
7. Ownership Interest: Do you have any ownership interest (patent filed, received, pending) for anything related to this paper?
8. Spokesperson/Speaker's Bureau: Have you served as a paid spokesperson or on a speaker's bureau for any entity involved with this research?
9. Expert Witness/Testimony: Have you provided expert witness or testimony for any entity involved with this research?
10. Royalties: Have you received any royalties connected with any entity involved with this research?
11. Other Disclosures: Do you have any personal relationships or affiliations (relevant to the subject of the manuscript) that might result in professional gain to a family member?

As an Author, I confirm that the information on this form is true, and I understand that this information may be disclosed publicly. The Endocrine Society reserves the right to decline to publish my work if the Society believes a material conflict of interest exists. I understand that failure to complete this form may disqualify my manuscript from consideration for publication.

Signature _____ Print Name _____ Date _____